About Me

I am a skilled media professional with extensive programs and computers experience and a passion for media art. I have a wide range of valuable talents that are useful in a variety of job applications including retail, computer skills, graphic design, leadership, and creativity. I have also obtained strong business and communication skills through my work experience that have contributed to my professional career by helping me become a strategic and innovative team member. After furthering my education at the Vancouver Institute of Media Arts, I have put my skills to use as a freelance graphic designer and have created various graphic design media content such as marketing ads, logos, pamphlets, magazines, etc.

My career in data entry has allowed me to further develop my professional skillsets and gain valuable career experience in a high-performance environment and team dynamic. I am ready to take my career to the next level and contribute by bringing my passion for further career development and growth to a talented team and engaging and supportive employer.
